Steven E. Coury is a lifelong resident of Ridgefield, having attended Farmingville Elementary School, East Ridge Middle School and Ridgefield High School. He earned his JD from Fordham University School of Law and his BA in Economics from Fairfield University. Professionally, for the past 13 years, Steven has practiced law in Manhattan at Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom, where he is currently a Counsel in the real estate department. Steven's law practice has a heavy emphasis on finance, specifically in the areas of real estate lending, loan structuring and restructuring, securitization, secondary market transactions and rating agency issues. He also handles leasing, development and joint venture matters.

Steven has four children: Jack, Lilybeth and Caroline, who attend Barlow Mountain Elementary School, and 7-month-old baby Steve. His wife, Laura, spent over a decade in Manhattan practicing as a commercial real estate finance attorney until recently deciding to become a stay-at-home mom.

Steven is currently a member of the Zoning Board of Appeals and a member of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. He is also a member of the Ridgefield Republican Town Committee, Ridgefield Sunrise Rotary Club and the Ridgefield Men's Softball League.
